The Center for Self Leadership
IFS Training Scholarship Policy and Application Form

The Center for Self Leadership (CSL) is committed to making IFS trainings accessible and affordable to all qualified people. To that end, CSL has a long history of providing generous scholarships to IFS training participants in CSL-organized Level 1, 2, and 3 training programs based on individual economic need. CSL is also committed to expanding diversity and broadening inclusion within the IFS community and among participants in IFS trainings. CSL offers this IFS Training Scholarship Policy as a holistic approach to expanding training affordability for those with economic challenges and additional support for traditionally underrepresented populations, including people of color, people from faith-based communities, the LGBTQ community, as well as full-time graduate and undergraduate students. In addition, this policy provides support for individuals whose work is in service to marginalized communities, faith-based communities, international relief, and ecological and planetary health.

IFS training scholarships are available as listed below, and CSL invites you to apply for scholarship support on the basis of financial need, student status, diversity and inclusion, or any combination of these categories:

- Economic need scholarship: CSL will continue to consider scholarship applications based on economic need of an individual applicant. This process considers the applicant’s personal financial profile.
- Full-time student scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for full-time graduate students and full-time undergraduate students.
- Racial/LGBTQ scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for people who are racially underrepresented or in the LGBTQ community.
- World service scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for people whose work serves minority and marginalized communities, poverty-stricken environments, faith-based communities, victim-support and advocacy, veterans, internationally marginalized communities, or environmental/global health services.

Applicants may receive up to a 60% tuition scholarship. While scholarships are available, CSL will continue to use economic need as the primary criterion for awarding financial support. As such, we ask that those members of our community who have the financial means forego the above opportunities so that we can provide as much financial support as possible to those in the greatest need.

These scholarships are available for IFS training programs organized by The Center for Self Leadership that take place in North America. They are not available for other trainings, or for other IFS events, including workshops, the IFS annual conference, IFS online webinar events, or any other non-training events. These scholarships are not available for those enrolled in The Center for Self Leadership’s Organizational Training Programs.
