
The Internal Family Systems Model

Internal Family SystemsSM is at the forefront of a movement toward a more collaborative therapeutic approach that relies on clients' intuitive wisdom. IFSSM offers a clear, non-pathologizing, and empowering view of human cognitive and emotional life and provides a dynamic therapeutic approach that allows both therapist and client to enter into a transformational relationship in which healing can occur.

Richard C. Schwartz, PhD, has been developing the IFS model for more than 30 years, with IFS now practiced by thousands of licensed therapists and other professionals throughout the United States and internationally. Mental health care professionals and others trained in the IFS model can easily integrate it into a wide variety of practices using the unique methods IFS offers to create safe environments for clients to become Self-transforming. Internal Family Systems therapy is a simple yet sophisticated integration of psychology, spirituality, and intra-psychic and family systems theory

Richard C. Schwartz

- Works well with couples, families, groups, and children;
- Can effectively treat trauma;
- Is a client-led approach that respects each client's pace and goals;
- Establishes a productive, trusting, and collaborative partnership between therapist and client;
- Helps therapists remain centered and open-hearted.

Internal Family Systems: An Evidence-Based Practice

Internal Family Systems (IFS) is now posted on NREPP as an evidence-based practice. NREPP is the National Registry for Evidence-Based Programs and Practices, a national repository that is maintained by the U.S. government's Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Interventions listed in NREPP have been subject to independent, rigorous scrutiny, and are deemed to show significant impact on individual outcomes relating to mental health.

As a clinical treatment, IFS has been rated effective for improving general functioning and well-being. In addition, it has been rated promising for improving each of: phobia, panic, and generalized anxiety disorders and symptoms; physical health conditions and symptoms; personal resilience/self-concept; and depression and depressive symptoms.

These scientific findings and the listing of IFS on NREPP affirm the vast potential of IFS therapy for advancing emotional healing and mental well-being. In particular, they indicate promising effects on mind (depression, anxiety), body (physical health conditions), and spirit (personal resilience and self-concept).

Curriculum

Overview: In addition to thoroughly learning IFS theory and techniques, the Internal Family Systems Level 1 training program invites participants to explore their own inner worlds in a safe, nurturing context. The training will help participants:

- Understand the conceptual basis of the IFS model;
- Apply basic IFS techniques to various clinical populations; and
- Take advantage of the opportunities IFS offers for personal development.

Learning Objectives: Please visit www.IFS-Institute.com, FAQ page.

Format: The training includes lecture, discussion, demonstration, experiential exercise, video review, and small group practice. Two separate 2-hour sessions occur between the extended sessions and enable participants to have contact with their trainers, and each other, in order to ask questions and further integrate material already presented.

Program Hours: This Level 1 training will meet for two extended sessions, and for two separate 2-hour sessions between the extended sessions, totaling 84 program hours. Each extended session comprises 40 program hours. Session and daily schedules are listed later in this brochure.

Trainers

Lead Trainer: Paul Ginter, Ed.D, Senior IFS Trainer, is a private practice psychologist at the Center for Psychotherapy and Wellness in Kalamazoo, MI, where he works with individuals, couples, and families. Paul has been an IFS therapist for more than 20 years and has served as a senior trainer for the past 10, leading trainings throughout the U.S. and Europe. Known for his compassionate approach, Paul is particularly interested in incorporating spiritual practices such as meditation into his teaching and work with clients.

Assistant Trainer: Marina Hassanali, LMFT, is a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist in private practice in Los Angeles who has participated in many IFS trainings since 2012. Marina is originally from Iran and has lived in the Middle East, Europe and the U.S. Coming from a multi-cultural background she is passionate about how our culture (legacy and learned) along with our individual backgrounds interface to set the stage for the unique individuals that we become.

Certificate of Completion

A Certificate of Completion (non-CE) is awarded by IFS Institute, and a participant must complete 70 of the 84 total program hours offered in order to be eligible to earn this certificate. Participants are responsible for ensuring that they attend sufficient training hours to earn the Certificate of Completion. The daily schedule is listed later in this brochure.

IFS Certification

Participants are not Certified IFS Therapists or Practitioners until they successfully complete the IFS Certification process. Information about the criteria and procedures for becoming IFS Certified is available on the IFS Institute website certification page, or by emailing certification@IFS-Institute.com.

Eligibility for Future Trainings

By earning IFS Institute's Certificate of Completion for this training, a participant is eligible to apply for a Level 2 IFS training program. Participants are not required to be Certified IFS Therapists or Certified IFS Practitioners to enroll in IFS trainings.
