The Internal Family Systems Model

Internal Family Systems℠ is at the forefront of a movement toward a more collaborative therapeutic approach that relies on clients’ intuitive wisdom. IFS℠ offers a clear, non-pathologizing, and empowering view of human cognitive and emotional life and provides a dynamic therapeutic approach that allows both therapist and client to enter into a transformational relationship in which healing can occur.

Richard C. Schwartz, PhD, has been developing the IFS model for more than 30 years, with IFS now practiced by thousands of licensed therapists and other professionals throughout the United States and internationally. Mental health care professionals and others trained in the IFS model can easily integrate it into a wide variety of practices using the unique methods IFS offers to create safe environments for clients to become Self-transforming. Internal Family Systems therapy is a simple yet sophisticated integration of psychology, spirituality, and intra-psychic and family systems theory that:

- Works well with couples, families, groups, and children;
- Can effectively treat trauma;
- Is a client-led approach that respects each client’s pace and goals;
- Establishes a productive, trusting, and collaborative partnership between therapist and client;
- Helps therapists remain centered and open-hearted.

Internal Family Systems: An Evidence-Based Practice

Internal Family Systems (IFS) is now posted on NREPP as an evidence-based practice. NREPP is the National Registry for Evidence-Based Programs and Practices, a national repository that is maintained by the U.S. government’s Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Interventions listed in NREPP have been subject to independent, rigorous scrutiny, and are deemed to show significant impact on individual outcomes relating to mental health.

As a clinical treatment, IFS has been rated effective for improving general functioning and well-being. In addition, it has been rated promising for improving each of: phobia, panic, and generalized anxiety disorders and symptoms; physical health conditions and symptoms; personal resilience/self-concept; and depression and depressive symptoms.

These scientific findings and the listing of IFS on NREPP affirm the vast potential of IFS therapy for advancing emotional healing and mental well-being. In particular, they indicate promising effects on mind (depression, anxiety), body (physical health conditions), and spirit (personal resilience and self-concept).

Curriculum
Overview: Anxiety and depression are the most presented symptoms of people seeking psychotherapy, and shame is frequently the engine that fuels both. This IFS Level 2 training provides an innovative way of understanding and working with the universal human problems of anxiety, depression and shame with an evidence-based theory. This intensive training is an in-depth exploration of shame, depression and anxiety through the lens of the IFS model, providing a framework that makes entrenched symptoms workable. This training will deepen your IFS skills and provide more tools for your IFS tool box. The training structure is similar to a Level 1 with a mix of lectures, demonstrations, experiential exercises and practice. The training:

- Explores the IFS paradigm of depression, anxiety and shame, not as a disorder, but as a coping mechanism of parts responding to a constraint in the internal or external system.
- Shows how this understanding provides a foundation for a uniquely powerful approach to these all too common symptoms.
- Introduces the organizing nature of shame.
- Focuses on expanding the participant's knowledge of essential processes unique to IFS, such as polarizations, working with extreme managers and firefighters, and unburdening.
- Emphasizes advanced techniques: working with legacy burdens, phobias, despair and inner critics.
- Continues the focus on Self as the healing agent in both the client and therapist. Includes opportunity for self-exploration and development of the Self of the therapist.

Learning Objectives: Please visit www.IFS-Institute.com, FAQ page.

Format: The training includes lecture, discussion, live and video demonstration, experiential exercises and small group practice.

Program Hours: The training has a total of 32 program hours. The daily schedule is available later in this brochure.

Trainers

Lead Trainer: Michael Elkin, MA, LMFT, is a senior IFS trainer whose unique style is founded in strategic and hypnotic therapy. Mike has been practicing and spreading the work of IFS since 1995. He became an IFS trainer in 1999 and has enthusiastically trained therapists in IFS throughout the US and Europe. He is known for his creative and effective approaches to additive and compulsive behavior, phobia, and anxiety. As a teacher, Mike's wisdom is wholeheartedly shared from over 40 years of clinical experience. He is the author of Families Under the Influence, and several articles.

Lead Trainer: Ann L. Sinko, LMFT, is a senior IFS trainer who has been an adjunct professor for over 20 years at Central Connecticut State University, training marriage and family therapists. She integrates IFS into all facets of her work with families, couples, individuals and groups. Ann describes herself as an experiential therapist, using art, sand tray therapy and movement to establish and environment where clients can experience unconditional acceptance. She is passionate about teaching, believing that theory is best integrated through experiential learning. Ann is known for her down to earth style and sense of humor, and she has authored a chapter on Legacy Burdens in Innovations and Elaborations in Internal Family Systems Therapy.
Assistant Trainer: Gretchen King, LMFT, sees clients and supervises graduate students at The Family Institute at Northwestern University, and supervision and consultation are a growing part of her practice. Gretchen works with adult individuals, couples, and adult families, and focuses on cultivating harmonious relationships with one’s Self and others. She has been involved with IFS since 2001 in a variety of capacities and is known for her clarity and gently challenging teaching style.
